Man Seen in Louisa Was Not Mr.

WORKING CINCINNATI THEORY.

Diver Joe Edwards Does Not Believe Mr. Alvey's Body is in the River. Efforts to Locate Him Will go on Unceasingly.

No new clues have developed in the John T. Alvey case.

The Richmond National Detective Agency is doing everything within its power to locate the missing man.

A letter was received by Manager A. Brownell yesterday suggesting that he interview a colored coachman named Marshall Williams, employed by Mr. P. H. Maso, who could, perhaps, give him a

The man was interviewed and stated that, while driving in from Mr. Mayo's country place, and when about twenty miles from Richmond, on the mountain road, in Louisa county, he met a man fairly well dressed, with a black fedora hat and sharp pointed shoes, who carried on his shoulders a haversack. He seemed to be explore and was apparently in to be crying, and was apparently in great distress.

NOT THE MAN.

A picture of Mr. Alvey was shown the coachman, who at once declared that he was not the man.

This is the only hint of a clue that was ocured by the detective yesterday, and othing new was known at the store of Alvey Brothers.

Diver Joe Edwards, who has, with a corps of assistants, been working on the river in an effort to find Mr. Alvey's body if it should be there, was seen last that the night, and was quite convinced that the body is not there. His work in that direction, however, is not to cease, but will be prosecuted unceasingly.

A gentleman in this city said yesterday

A gentleman in this city said yesterday that one of the porters on the Chesapeake & Ohio train for the west that left here on the night after Mr. Alvey disappeared, saw a man resembling Mr. Alvey on that train.

The man had been drinking and he had with him a quart bottle of whisky. He remarked that he was a Richmond merchant and that he was going to Cincinnati, but only to stay a short while.

nati, but only to stay a short while.

HE CAME BACK.

A theory somewhat similar to this is, that the conductor of the Chesapeake and Ohio train that left the night of the disappearance, remembered something of a passenger, ticketed to Cincinnati, who had been drinking. He would make almost incoherent remarks and attracted some attention. The conductor, in this instance, is almost, but not quite sure, that he brought this man back to Richmond on the following Sunday.

This may have been the man seen by gentleman in the dining car between funtington and Cincinnati, the following morning, upon which suggestion the de

A LONG AND EXCITING CHASE.

Sydney Cox Struck With a Rock by a Negro.

Officer Alex, Wright Finally Secured His Man-A Fight on the Streets. Personal Mention and Brief Items.

Manchester Bureau, Richmond Times, 1112 Hull Street, Beattle Block.

A negro, giving his name as John Lewis. struck Sidney Cox, a white man, just over the ear with a rock last night about 9 o'clock. At first there was considerable excitement on the streets, as it was reported that Cox was killed. Cox seems to have been intoxicated when he got into a dispute with the negro at the merry-go-round. Officer Wright separated the two and thought he had gotten Cox out of the way. Cox was on the outside of the crowd when the negro came up behind him within a few feet, and let Cox have it over the ear. He dropped like a beef, and was carried in Stein's butcher shop, but he soon recovered and walked to his home.

THE NEGRO RAN.

After throwing the rock the negro made reported that Cox was killed.

After throwing the rock the neg o made a break, but Mr. Wright was in the chase from the start. The negro kept the streets for a few blocks, then took across gardens and fences. has been suggested by several citizens, and also a member of the City Council, that the night police force of the city should be increased. Two men cannot properly patrol the city.

This increase in the force is needed particularly now, that this new railroad is being built just outside the corporation limits which always brings a floating, troublesome kind of population. Though, so far, not a great deal of trouble has come from that quarter. Complaint also comes from the residents of Semmes streat that a crowd of drunken hoodlums, hoboes, and night prowlers almost nighthoboes, and night prowlers almost nightly wake the neighborhood with yells, cat-calls, and such disturbing sounds. It is suggested that the peaceful, law-abiding, and respectable citizens snould not be an-noyed by such a lot of disorderly per-sons. If one or two extra police should sons. CHURCH VS. SALOON.

Ups and Downs of a Danville Man Who Died at Newport News,

The body of W. S. Blackwell, en route from Newport News to Danville, passed from Newport News to Danville, passed through this city last night.

Blackwell, who died suddiedly at Newport News-Thursday night, lived until recently in Danville, where his later years encompassed a series of ups and downs constituting a rather remarkable cureer. In the early lws he conducted a saloon, but he became converted and joined the church. In the grocery business, in which he afterwards engaged, Blackwell was unsuccessful. He quit the church and went back to the saloon. At a sanctification revival in Danville, early in the year, he was again converted. For a second time he closed his saloon and sought a livelihood by engaging in another occupation. Several months ago he located in Newport News, and was engaged in the furniture business at the time of his death. Blackwell was of highly-respected parentage.

In connection with announcement yes-teriay of the formation of a new tele-phone syndicate, which proposes to ask for local and long-distance franchises, it for local and long-distance franchises, it is interesting to record the receipt of an offer yesterday to secure a ten days' option on the Richmond Telephone Com-pany's plant and franchises. It could not pany's plant and franchises. It could not be ascertained who made the offer, but it was suggested that it came from the pro-posed new syndicate, which, it was rea-soned, might find it to their advantage to secure a franchise and dispose of a competing rival at one stroke. The offer was declined by the Richmond Telephone Company. Company.

It has been estimated since the com-promise of the Tennant-Dunlop suit that, had the litigation progressed much longer. the cost in court fees and retainers for attorneys would have amounted to as much as twenty-five thousand dollars. One gentleman, who knows the amount of the compromise figure, but who is no at liberty to mention the amount, stated that it was largely in excess of twenty-five thousand dollars.

overed from the serious accident of some fourteen weeks back.

It is very often claimed by various commercial bodies throughout the country that they are the originators of the idea of astiating the interchangeable mileage ticket. Only a few days ago, it was stated at last night's meeting. New York papers had given credit for this work to the New York Board of Trade. Also, the Chicago Board of Trade has likewise placed itself on record as being the originators, but it is a well-known fact that the Travelers Protective Association of America not only are the first to bring this matter before the railroads, but have already gotten the suid tickets from the Central and Western Passenger Associations, which embrace some sixty railroads.
